

Make a Rain Gauge to Study Precipitation

Name: _____

Date: _____

Student quiz

Directions: Indicate all correct answers for each question below.

1. Indicate all correct statements.
 - a. A rain gauge measures precipitation.
 - b. A rain gauge only measures how much it rains.
 - c. A rain gauge only measures how much it snows.
 - d. A rain gauge measures how much water falls from the sky.

2. Indicate which statement completes the sentence.

A rain gauge measures ...

 - a. the amount of water falling from the sky at this moment.
 - b. the amount of water that fell from the sky since the gauge was last emptied.
 - c. how fast water is currently falling from the sky
 - d. how much water will fall from the sky tomorrow

3. What statement are you likely to hear on a weather report?
 - a. It rained 10 inches last month.
 - b. It rained 10 grams last month.
 - c. It rained 10 gallons last month.
 - d. It rained 10 miles last month.

Make a Rain Gauge—Page 2

Name: _____

Student quiz

Directions: Indicate all correct answers for each question below.

4. Picture 1 shows three clear glass containers. Which one(s) is/are best suited to make a rain gauge from?

- a. Container A
 - b. Container B
 - c. Container C
5. Select all of the things that you would not do with the container chosen in question 4 to use it as rain gauge.
- a. Put a heavy stone in it, so it does not topple over easily
 - b. Glue it to something heavy, so it does not topple over easily
 - c. Cover it with plastic, so no dirt falls in it
 - d. Place it on a covered porch
 - e. Place it outside in an open area